

Android now!

Android had helped create more choice and innovation on mobile than ever before! Today, it is more difficult not to know android than it is to know the most popular operating system in the smartphone world. Google has brought the operating system a long way to make it the market leader in a very tight market which has surpassed the feature phones. Currently it has around 1.4 billion active android devices running across the globe and that is amazing.

Getting in to android flavors and tasting it is more interesting. Developing things for android and letting them used by millions and billions of users our there is really amazing. The stuff build on android can change the lives out there and make many impossibilities to become possible. Here we go with this fantastic blog to beat the heat of android development. That's about Tasting Android.